

California Rights

If you are a California resident, the California Constitution grants you a right of privacy. Under the California Consumer Privacy Act of 2018 (CCPA) and certain other privacy and data protection laws, as applicable, you may exercise the following rights free of charge.

You have the right to request that we disclose to you the categories of personal information and specific pieces of personal information we have collected about you, the sources from which this personal information is collected, the purpose for collecting this information, and the categories of third parties with whom this personal information is shared.

In connection with any personal information we may disclose to a third party for a business purpose, you have the right to know the categories of personal information we have collected about you and the categories of personal information that we have disclosed about you for a business purpose.

Subject to certain exceptions, you have the right to request that we delete any personal information collected about you.

You have the right to not be discriminated against by us because you exercised any of your above rights.

If you have questions concerning your personal information or would like to exercise any of your rights, you may contact us at 1-800-331-4298 or personalinformation@brinksgilson.com.